CLOCKHOURS NEWS

Friday, March 19th Full Day FREE Real Estate BarCamp!

Often referred to as the "unconference," Real Estate BarCamp is a full day of break out sessions on current real estate topics. BarCamps (ok.. Strange name... from boot camp... who knows) are held all over the country. This will be my 4th BarCamp this year! The Keynote speaker is Jim Marks, VirtualResults.com who is passionate about internet marketing. Then the break out sessions are planned and facilitated by those of YOU that attend! Typically most revolve around social marketing but anything goes. Held at the Seattle Center Northwest Rooms, there will be about a half dozen sessions each hour or so. The entire conference is supported by the sponsors and FREE to the participants. Professional Direction, www.clockhours.com, is a sponsor. Find me for a coupon for clockhours! <http://rebarcamp.com/seattle/>

Real Estate Quarterly Meeting March 31st in Olympia

For 17 years Natalie has attended almost every Dept of Licensing commission meeting! This is where the budget is decided, laws are created, and licensing problems are discussed. This meeting includes annual reports by sections including investigation and audit. Few agents have ever attended. Come join me! <http://www.dol.wa.gov/business/realestate/meetingsminutes.html>

Transition Course ... who takes it and when?

The Transition Course is required for ALL licensees when you renew after July 2010. If you renew before July you can take it and satisfy the requirement. The course is about the new license law changes. There are so many rumors out there in our industry. Natalie made a short animated video at www.YouTube.com/users/clockhours about the new changes.. Sooo funny! You can contact Natalie to have her teach in your office or with a half dozen friends. OR you can take it as a correspondence class right on her website.
