

Blog Ideas

What do I blog about?

You sit in front of the computer and there is a blank screen. It is no different than a writer with a white blank page ready for her next novel.

Think about what you love to talk about. Think about what makes you smile. Look at your desk, what you read about in the newspaper or magazines. Where are you most opinionated? What topic do you bring up first at dinner? What about a video or photo blog? Everyone talks about "content." There's so much noise out there. Make your blog personal! Here are some ideas to get you going. Make any blog easy and fun!

Other Blog topics

- Theme days. Can be luxury house, something blue, holidays
- Photo blog. Can include photos of area or even a quiz about where it was taken
- History of area. Can include some historical fact
- Video. Can be one your record
- Quote of the day. There are millions, billions of quotes. Humorous jokes.
- There is nothing better than laughter

- Knitting or sewing blog. This can have a quote or photo or a tip of the week
- Fantastic Fishing Blog. If you love fishing or have another hobby
- Weekend Blog. What is happening each weekend in town.

Tie any blog to something about your real estate business. If you are writing about an area then let the reader know what your connection to that area is. If you are writing a blog about a personal interest then try to tie each blog to your business.

For example:

I have been fishing for more clients this week.

My last buyer inspired me to choose this quote today.

This historical house was sold last year.
